ABOUT THE ILLUSTRATOR

Patrick Yee is an award-winning illustrator of more than 100 children's books. He won the Macmillan Prize for Children's Book Illustration twice.

He currently teaches at Nanyang Polytechnic, the Nanyang Academy of Fine Arts, the Spastic Children's Association, and the AWWA Special School.

ABOUT THE PUBLISHER

An independent publisher based in Singapore, Epigram Books is known for putting together well-designed and thought-provoking titles. It began as a division of Epigram, the award-winning design firm, but registered as a separate entity in July 2011 to champion local writing.

Epigram Books publishes all manner of fiction—novels, short stories, plays, children’s books and some poetry. Authors include pioneers like Edwin Thumboo, Lloyd Fernando, Goh Poh Seng, Stella Kon, Kirpal Singh, Robert Yeo, Lim Chor Pee, Tan Kok Seng, Ming Cher and Lim Thean Soo. Contemporary authors include playwrights Tan Tarn How, Ovidia Yu, Chong Tze Chien, Jean Tay and Haresh Sharma. Award-winning children’s authors include Adeline Foo of Amos Lee fame and SherMay Loh of the Archibald series. Next year, it will include graphic novels in its stable, with works by Dave Chua and Ng Xiao Yan, drowscape, Miel, Ng Hong Teng and Oh Yong Hwee and Eisner-nominated Sonny Liew.

It reflects Singapore’s obsession with food by publishing both recipe books and food guides. In 2011, a new imprint, Wee Editions, was launched to support local designers, photographers and artists through a unique series of compact coffee table books.
